Project Four Report

Project Four was tough, and took me around 4-6 hours to complete. This one was different from the rest, as we had a lot more liberty and a lot less guidance on how to make the Flanger. I started by looking at the lecture notes for the Flanger and seeing which parameters I would need. When I realized I'd need an LFO, I followed the handout for LFOs and that guided me through most of the plugin. This time, I decided to try and make a nicer looking GUI, and messed around a lot with it. While it doesn't look great, and might not even look better, I was just glad I was able to steer away from the usual design and make it look more like my own.
